

Jeppesen World Fuel Services

Challenge

Airlines need proven expertise to help them effectively manage the impact of today's volatile fuel costs on their operations.

Solution

Two of the aviation industry's most trusted names have joined together to help airlines lower operating costs and increase efficiency by more effectively managing fuel costs, credit management and transaction processing.

Jeppesen and World Fuel Services

By joining forces with World Fuel, the largest independent fuel marketer, we now offer attractive fuel pricing and credit terms to our customers through combined worldwide purchasing power and supply relationships with major oil companies and nationalized oil concerns.

We provide dependable fuel availability that is supported by an efficient operating system that tracks a customer's fuel-related cost components, including taxes, into plane and other fees.

Our services include

- 24 hour, 365 day service
- Flexible credit terms
- Into-storage and into-wing delivery points
- Scheduled, charter, cargo and ad-hoc fuel supply
- Fixed forward priced fuel contracts/hedging
